Hazardous Weather

🌃 💆 NWSMidland | weather.gov/midland

Created: 6/12/20165:34 AM CT

It will be seasonably warm today, with thunderstorms possible again this afternoon and evening. The storms will be capable of producing gusty downburst winds, frequent lightning, and locally heavy rainfall. Flash flooding will also be possible, especially across areas that received substantial rainfall from storms overnight.

We'll see more chances of isolated to scattered showers and thunderstorms this afternoon along with slightly warmer temps. Some storms may become marginally severe with hail up to the size of quarters and wind gusts up to 60 mph.
